Thank you for completing this form. The information you provided has been entered into the US Postal Inspection Service's national complaint system. This is the confirmation email.

Your Reference number is: 38075682

Complaints alleging mail tampering or theft by the public may be investigated as federal offenses within the jurisdiction of the US Postal Inspection Service. Please note that the US Postal Inspection Service will only contact you if further information is needed to proceed with your case.

We encourage you to also report this incident to your local law enforcement agency if you have not done so already. Depending on the specific circumstances of your complaint, the theft may be investigated by local law enforcement. These agencies play a critical investigative role and often work closely with US Postal Inspection Service and other law enforcement partners. In some jurisdictions, state and local law enforcement can take action based on local laws unavailable to federal law enforcement officials.

Additionally, please be aware of important resources that may help you protect yourself from mail theft and identity theft. Below are a few links that provide valuable information on mail theft prevention, identity theft resources, and the measures the Postal Service is taking to secure your mail:

Mail Theft Prevention Tips: <https://www.uspis.gov/tips-prevention/mail-theft>
